Morning Brief

Today's Outlook:

The Dow Jones and S&P500 ended slightly lower, while the Nasdaq struggled to stay on the border of positive territory on Tuesday trading (22/08/23) triggered by investors' concerns that the Federal Reserve will keep interest rates higher for longer; plus the fall in banking stocks as a result of the credit rating downgrade by S&P on several US banks, causing the S&P 500 bank index to fall 2.4%. Investors hope for clarity on the US interest rate trend when Fed Chair Jerome Powell speaks at a meeting of central bankers on Friday in Jackson Hole, Wyoming symposium. The benchmark 10-year US Treasury yield has reacted early by touching a 16-year high amid predictions that the Fed will still maintain the upward trend of the Fed Fund Rate. Meanwhile, the 2-year US Treasury, which is more sensitive to interest rate movements, is currently at 5% yield which is the highest point since early July. Higher borrowing costs will suppress business and consumer spending, and ultimately lead to an economic slowdown. This seems to be evident as the US economic data just reported lower-than-expected Existing Home Sales (July) of 4.07 million units (vs. previous month's 4.16 million units). From the other side of the world, Japan released BOJ Core CPI at 3.3% yoy, heating up above estimates & previous period at 3%. The Eurozone announced the Current Account (June) which managed to record a massive surplus of EUR 35.8 billion, a sharp contrast to the estimated deficit and the previous month's result of EUR 7.9 billion. As for today, the market will be presented with PMI data from several countries, before having more focus on economic data from the US in the evening, such as: Building Permits, S&P Global Composite PMI, New Home Sales, and also Crude Oil Inventories which are predicted to drop again by 2.299 million barrels, adding to the thin US oil reserves after minus 5.96 million barrels in the previous period. Speaking of commodities, Crude Oil prices weakened on Tuesday as markets waited to see if Iraqi exports via the Ceyhan oil terminal would resume, which could ease the supply tightening caused by OPEC+ production cuts; while China's faltering economy did little to help the demand outlook. Gold prices rose slightly on the back of Dollar weakness as the greenback retreated from a two-month high, although fears of rising US interest rates still keep the outlook for the noble metal market bleak.

Indonesia's current account balance in Q2/2023 recorded a deficit of USD 7.4 billion and the position of Foreign Exchange Reserves at the end of June was still high at USD 137.5 billion. Bank Indonesia explained that the current account deficit is still manageable as the impact of high uncertainty in global financial markets, amidst the conditions of falling commodity prices and global economic slowdown and rising domestic demand. On the other hand, JCI gave a sweet surprise by rising steadily through MA10 & MA20 resistance and is currently face to face with bullish Flag resistance. Amidst the optimism that this bullish sentiment can still continue, NHKSI RESEARCH advises investors/traders to AVERAGE UP after a solid break of 6930 resistance area (near Closing time).

Domestic & Global News

Economists' Advise on Indonesia's Balance of Payment Deficit of USD 7.4 M

Indonesia's Balance of Payment recorded a deficit of USD 7,4 billioon in the second quarter of 2023, in line with the current account deficit of USD 1.9 billion. Bank Indonesia noted that the current account, which had been in surplus since the third quarter of 2021, was pressured by a deficit in services transactions of around USD 4 billion, influenced by a deficit in goods transportation services, telecommunications services, and insurance. Executive Director of the Center of Reform on Economics (Core) Mohammad Faisal said that the current account for services has always recorded a deficit. The deficit in the services balance was driven by transportation services related to the delivery of export and import goods. In addition, the way to close the deficit is by encouraging the tourism sector, so that the overall current account will record a surplus again. (Bisnis)

Oil Prices Settle Lower on Nagging Worries About Chinese Demand

Oil prices settled lower on Tuesday as investors remained focused on the likelihood that China's economic malaise will keep hobbling demand from the world's top crude importer. Brent crude settled down 43 cents, or 0.5% at USD 84.03 a barrel while the more active U.S. West Texas Intermediate October contract slipped 48 cents to USD 79.64. The front-month WTI contract settled down 37 cents at USD 80.35 a barrel on very limited volume ahead of its imminent expiry. China, the world's second-largest economy, is considered crucial to shoring up oil demand over the rest of the year. Its sluggish economic activity has frustrated markets as pledged stimulus has fallen short of expectations, including a smaller than expected cut in a key lending benchmark on Monday. "Saudi and Russian output cuts have been largely negated by weakening crude demand from China that appeared to develop last month and is apt to continue through the rest of the summer," said Jim Ritterbusch, president of Ritterbusch and Associates LLC in Galena, Illinois. (Reuters)

MYOR : Maintain Company's Performance Target in 2024 PT Mayora Indah Tbk (MYOR) recorded a brilliant performance in the first semester of 2023. MYOR reported that top line grew 3% to IDR 14.8 trillion, gross profit grew 32% to IDR 3.9 trillion, and net profit grew 86% to IDR 1.2 trillion. MYOT targets the new factory to operate in 2024 and will increase biscuit and wafer production capacity by around 30% or 200,000 tons per year. (Kontan)
